The email body contains the following text:

Dear Sowmya Subramaniam,

Thank you for being part of the Global Jury and helping us evaluate Wadhvani NEN course's student Practice Venture applications from all over the world on the YouNoodle platform.

Your evaluation feedback (which has been shared with the teams) is helping empower budding young student entrepreneurs to pursue their dream but also get a reality check through this process.

We know and sincerely appreciate the time and effort you take out of your busy schedule to do these evaluations. We hope you will continue to be part of our Global jury for future batches as well and help guide future entrepreneurs across the globe.

For what it is worth, we will be offering an annual (for the year 2020-21) certificate of appreciation for those jury members who are continuous and significant Global Jury contributors around Q1 2021.

We also would be delighted to involve you in the broader Wadhvani Entrepreneurial Programs and Community. Please connect with the Impact team or with your local program managers if you want to share any feedback to improve the process, have any issues in continuing to be part of the global jury, or need any further information.

Thank you again for your continued support

Global Impact Team
